

The Petroleum Museum

Supports

“spOILed”

A Mark Mathis production

How dependent on oil are we?

Where does energy come from?

How many types of energy do you use in a day?

Everything we do is connected to energy in one form or another!

“America is addicted to oil.” President George W. Bush said so... and now that phrase is echoed everywhere. But are we really “addicted”? Our daily lives are dripping in oil. It’s in virtually everything we use and fuels everything we do. To be sure, it is something to worry about. Are we going to run out? Aren’t we fighting wars for oil? But, if we do slow the flow, how will that change the way we live?

For nearly ten years, journalist turned media analyst MARK MATHIS has studied our use of oil. What he found shocked him so thoroughly that he made a movie about the misinformation, distortions and even outright lies about oil.

We do have an “oil problem” in America (and the world), but it’s not what you’ve been told. So, it’s time to Fill Up on Truth ... for a change. spOILed is about us, the people, our lives and how petroleum is imbedded into everything we do.”

Visit www.spoiledthemovie.com for more information.